

Prayer for Wholeness

Easter 1957, excerpt

Begin, begin again, no matter where!

From now on it only matters that every day you do some task, a task performed attentively, honestly. It only matters that you add to the unending construction of reality (never completed) your very small daily share....

Through the telescope or with your one remaining eye you see slowly, rather badly in detail, but all in all well enough. Well enough to get your bearings.

Well enough to follow the road that little by little reveals itself. Well enough to do your part as best you can. After all, in fact, does it matter, the task's particulars, the outline of the foot's form in the sand, or the goal where you finish, late, tired enough, where you finish perhaps, sometimes, by arriving?

Jean-Paul de Dadelsen translated by Marilyn Hacker

Famine Relief for Gaza

One small way we at SPC can cultivate the realm of God is by contributing to famine relief in Gaza.

An anonymous donor has already offered a $2000 base donation as a challenge to the church to match or exceed.

The SPC Session has decided to direct this famine relief to World Central Kitchen.

Contributions will be accepted throughout the summer.

Please contribute as generously as you are able - in fact, please consider going beyond what you think you are able!

Save the money you would spend on DoorDash delivery and give the extra four or five dollars.

Eat rice and beans instead of meatloaf and scrape a couple of extra bucks together to contribute to the cause.

If it is available to you and your health, go without a meal or two every couple of weeks and donate the savings.

Indicate #Gaza in whatever form you make your contribution.

